HOUSE INVADED AND MEMBERS IN AN UPROAR

There was proceeding when objection was taken by Fred White, of Calgary, and the labor member resigned being told that he was over-zealous in making the record of the government.

The Robert Pearson, independent, also had decided objections to the proceedings continuing, claiming that the dignity of the House was not being maintained.

Vergerville moved

A. M. Matheson, of Vergerville, who admitted that the estimates as brought in might be misleading.

He expressed his belief that the auditor should be allowed to answer any questions put by Mr. Marshall otherwise "propaganda" sheets would take advantage of the opportunity of distorting the facts and placing a misrepresentation on the incident by making out that the information was withheld for the purpose of covering up something.

Chairman McKee left the decision to the committee, but Mr. Pearson insisted that the president be by the government was a bad one.

"I have never before seen anyone on the floor of the House make a general discussion except members," he said.

W. T. Henry, of Edmonton, wanted to ask Hon. R. O. Held questions as to policy while the auditor was present, but Hon. George Hoodley stated that this would not be permissible.

Call it unfortunate

"I believe with Mr. Pearson that we have acted in establishing dangerous precedent, and we now see what it has led to. The government hasn't the slightest wish to keep back any information, but we recognize now that there should be a limit. It is perhaps rather unfortunate and shouldn't have happened," he said.

The matter was then put to the committee, and the U.P.A. speaker stopped further questioning.

Hon. R. O. Held, however, admitted during the debate that the new system being followed in presenting the estimates was a very difficult one, and that Mr. Marshall had exposed one of its weaknesses. The attempt, however, was to show the actual public accounts, and no doubt there would be a change in the manner of presenting them next year.

Ministers who endeavored to follow the auditor's explanations stated that the system followed this year was intended to show that the accounts did not convey the information they were intended to convey without an explanation.

Cave-In Puzzles Men of Science; Only $20-$30 Daily Says Beggar

THE SUDDEN COLLAPSE OF EARTH into a hole 300 feet in diameter at Smoky hill river bed from no apparent or visible cause is puzzling Kansas scientists. The state geologist attributes the cause of the sinking, which is about 500 feet, to underground caverns left when a stratum of limestone dissolved. Another theory has been advanced, that it is an old volcano showing signs of life

GOTHAM BEGGAR DENIES BIG "PICKINGS"—Amedee J. Jalbert, a cripple, who goes about on a wooden platform rigged on a roller skate propelled by two blocks of wood in his hands. CITY THREATENED—General view taken at the height of a $125,000 fire which for a time last Sunday threatened to get beyond control of the firemen and sweep Long Branch, N. J., seashore resort city. Hard work on the part of the fire-fighters confined the blaze to the furniture warehouse in which it started

HATS, COATS, HATS—Lacking dressing rooms, the "extras" in a film at Hollywood leave their hats and coats in this enclosure. Strangely enough, when this photo was taken, not a single loss was reported

"SOUR DOUGH" George Campbell Canon, awarded a court victory in his $20,000,000 patent right suit against western smelting companies, has no idea what he is going to do with the money. Also he is sceptical. "Court decisions are one thing and cash is another," he says

U.F.A. Plans to Enter Book Selling Business

TEXTS AT COST, PLAN MEETING OPPOSITION

Premier States Bill Intro- duced to Aid Rural Districts

Giving the government power to go into the business of providing text books and reference books at cost for school children in Alberta, a bill amending the Alberta Education Act was brought down in the legislature on Thursday.

The bill, which calls for the provision of books for the purpose of which will increase the amount of the trading account of the department to about $150,000 comes into effect on the order of the lieutenant governor in council if it passes the House.

Seek Authority

The government has not yet fully decided on its policy in this matter, but as the bill will come into force on presentation, we want to have the necessary authority to go ahead if that decision is reached," explained Hon. Perren Baker.

"This is a far reaching measure and the government should make up its mind before bringing it in. If it is the desire of the Government to go into the book selling business the House should have more information," protested Captain J. C. Brown, opposition leader.

Both Premier Brownlee and Hon. Perren Baker stated that the bill was brought in to meet demands from rural districts.

The bill was given second reading.

TWO TEACHERS WIN APPEAL

Won't Have to Pay Dam- ages for Refusing to Teach Boys

A. P. Powell and Margaret Mathias, two Catholic school teachers, won their appeal before the Appeal Court Friday morning by which the District Court decision in Judge Morrison is reversed. Damages of $10 each had been awarded to them for refusing to teach two boys they had expelled for truancy.

In giving damages the judge had held that they had acted in good faith but had exceeded their authority in enforcing discipline. George P. Auster was counsel for Thomas Singleton and son, Alfred, and for Fred H. Tucker and son, Cyril, of Cadzow. George H. Smith, counsel for the Alberta Teachers' Association, was counsel for the teachers.

R. C. Marshall Rushes To Aid Of Unwashed Stenographers

Doesn't Want Factories In- spector Telling 'Em When to Rouge

Factories Act inspectors will soon have so much time on their hands that they will be telling stenographers just how they should wash their faces and powder and rouge their faces, according to R. C. Marshall, Calgary member, who quoted a letter from a Calgary business office to show that one inspector in that city was over officious in action.

The inspector in question aroused the ire of the Calgary stenographers who he invaded their offices and ordered them and men to be provided for stenographers.

Mr. Marshall thought that if the inspectors had so much time that they could carry on in this manner there was one too many inspectors on the job.

"I move a cut in these estimates of $1,800 so that he can leave the stenographers alone and let them wash when they like," he said, but the proposal cut was voted down.

ANIMALS IN JASPER PARK ON INCREASE

Since the inception of the Jasper National park, in 1909, animals therein had increased by 50 to every one killed off, said Major Fred Brewster, of Jasper, in an address before the 20th anniversary banquet of the Edmonton section of the Alpine Club of Canada at the Macdonald hotel Thursday evening.

There is at the present time, said Major Brewster, an agitation amongst a certain section of people to allow coyotes and animals of prey to roam uncontrolled in the park for the purpose of killing off the weaklings and keeping the herds of deer, etc., in a healthier condition.

Personally he was opposed to this, as it would mean that the park would return to the former depleted state. He was, however, in favor of striking a balance, and letting a certain number roam, but not enough to take a toll of the better conditioned animals.

Other speakers were Dr. D. L. Rutherford of the University of Alberta, Miss M. H. Piller, member of the British Alpine club, Cyril O. Waive, and W. A. MacKay, who reviewed the success of the section in the past and hoped he would be a worthy successor to the chairmanship of Mr. Waive.

The Alpine intelligence competition was won by Miss Helen Burns in the ladies section, and by Dr. Burns in the men's.

Miss Margaret Galt gave one of the club's official songs. Cyril Waive was presented with a handsome silver cigarette case in appreciation of his services as chairman of the local section. The retiring secretary, Miss Winifred Hinchey, was the recipient of a bouquet of flowers.

CHIROPRACTORS FAIL TO PASS MEDICAL EXAM.

Although an examining board for chiropractors has been in existence in Alberta since 1923, consisting of two practicing chiropractors, two medical men from the University of Alberta, and a layman, who recently succeeded the deputy minister of health as chairman of the board, not one chiropractor has managed to pass the examinations. Mr. Hon. George Hoadley informed the House Thursday.

In 1923 and 1924 no candidates appeared before the board, but in 1925 three appeared, and so far in 1926 two have come up for examination. None was passed however.

Not that I know of, I accepted the recommendations of the board in each case," replied the minister of health.

Super-tax was payable by about 400 persons in Great Britain and Northern Europe in 1925-26.

Why your needs oats as a mark

Active, growing bodies must have food for energy and for bone and brawn.

More than any other cereal, oats show up energy for the day's work and play. Your children, "always on the go," require as much energy food as grown-ups. Lengthening limbs and expanding muscles demand plenty of bone and tissue-building food.

A warm, appetizing dish of Quaker Oats with whole milk supplies all the required food elements in balanced proportion. It satisfies. Its "bulk" stimulates the intestine to regular, normal action.

Two kinds—Quaker Oats, the plump flake—and Quick Quaker, the thin flake partly cooked, which makes porridge in 3 to 5 minutes. Ask for Quaker, and look for the familiar Quaker figure on the package. Do not expect a substitute to please you.

ALI BABA AND FORTY THIEVES

THEY COULDN'T FIND THE TREASURE

All Baba's men
For a long time, Ali Baba remained in the cave. He was afraid to come down until the robbers left, so he remained perched on a branch until the robbers rolled away and the forty men appeared. Each carried a full bag in his arms which he fastened upon the back of his horse.
"What, he came forth, and the robbers rolled back.
Their horses loaded, the robbers mounted their steeds and at the command of their leader, fell into line and rode away. Ali Baba remained in safe hiding until the last vestige of the robbers was lost. Then he descended and looked about him.
Ali Baba was no coward. Alone and unaided, he determined to investigate for himself. He cautiously stepped on all sides, but it appeared firm and immovable as though it had lain there through the centuries. The watchkeeper decided to try the magical words, "Open, sesame," he cried eagerly as he had heard the robber captain say.
The rock rolled away, and Ali Baba passed within the cave.
All Baba found hidden treasure in tomorrow's story.

CHAPTER LI
JIMMY PITCHES OLGA UP IN HIS ARMS

A cough, Barry, a bed—nothing to lay her down on. "The hard floor..."
They found a couch in the front room, laid her down on it and it gave them a shock.
"How did you get her, Barry?" Mr. Land, next morning, said to Jimmy.
"I found her lying on the floor," Barry answered, and Jimmy laughed. "It was good to see the old, familiar face. Why, you found her lying on the floor, didn't you?"

She had the thoughtfulness to drop her a line, or call her up, and explain. Again she lived over that afternoon, she herself going down into the crowded street and looking. This to see Jim and Barry approaching. They were talking very earnestly. "Open, sesame," he cried eagerly as he had heard the robber captain say.
